

MIKE LIPKIN

RESEARCHED MOTIVATION AND PERSUASION

One Life, One Meeting

How to Build Preeminence One Conversation at a Time.

“The quality of your future is a direct function of the quality of conversations you have with the people in your life. Extraordinary relationships are created one preeminent conversation at a time.” Mike Lipkin

- How can you create conversations that help others grow, contribute and celebrate?
- How can you make every meeting a once-in-a-lifetime experience that expands and inspires others?
- How can you become someone other people seek out because you consistently deliver so much value to them?
- How can you prepare to win so you always play at your personal best?
- How can you break through your fears so you go where you've never gone before?
- How can you get more out of every situation through the power of fascination?
- How can you listen in a way that magnetizes the truth to you?
- How can you communicate like magic?
- How can you become a completion-maniac so you always finish like a champion?

These are the questions Mike Lipkin answers for you in One Life, One Meeting. Drawing on the celebrated Environics Social Values research and his conversations with over a million people in 43 countries, Mike shows you how to build Personal Preeminence in every encounter. One Life, One Meeting will give you proven, powerful methods that help you bring out the best in people so they bring out their best for you. Full of practical, actionable insights, it will expand your capacity to produce remarkable results with others.

Call Mike at 416.917.6007 to help you and your people have preeminent conversations and create extraordinary relationships.